ALEX G. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board

Alex G. Spanos transformed a modest business venture into a corporate giant ranked at the top of the national construction industry. As the founder and chairman of A.G. Spanos Companies, the nation's largest family-owned construction company, his commitment to excellence, quality and integrity are imprinted in the daily operation and management of the 12 companies which are wholly owned and managed by the Spanos family.

The success of the A.G. Spanos Companies allowed him to realize many dreams in his lifetime, including owning a National Football League team.

In 1984 when Spanos was offered the opportunity to purchase the Chargers, he put the decision to a vote before the Companies' board of directors.

"The vote was 10 to two not to buy the ball club," he recalls. But the chairman used his veto power to overrule. "I told them, 'When you turn 60 you'll understand.'

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams,"" Spanos characteristically said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a lifelong goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream." On Aug. 1, 1984, the dream became reality.

Throughout his ownership, Spanos has moved with strength and vision to build a solid foundation for success. The hiring of General Manager Bobby Beathard, one of the most respected football men in the NFL, was hailed around the league. He has given Beathard the freedom to aggressively pursue and sign the top players in football, annually spending the limit of the NFL salary cap.

Spanos' commitment and value to the NFL was recognized when NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue named him to the League's Expansion and Realignment Committee in 1991. He also serves on the League's Legislative Committee and the NFL Properties Executive Committee.

Prior to the 1994 season, Spanos turned over the day-to-day management of the organization to his son, Dean, but remains active in all business related to the team. This new role enables him to fully enjoy being the number-one fan of the Chargers and San Diego.

Throughout his storied life, Spanos has remained centered in his belief in family values and giving back to the community.

Though one of the nation's most productive corporate businesses, the A.G. Spanos organization continues as a family-run operation. The family works as a unit with trust and confidence in each other to guide the direction and actions of the company. Eldest son Dean serves as President/Vice Chairman of the Chargers and the Spanos corporate organization as well as Vice Chairman of AGS Financial. Son Michael manages the construction and development activities in the western and southeastern divisions of the company and is the Executive Vice President of the Chargers. Together, they are the driving force behind each business venture.

Spanos' belief in giving back to the community have paid countless dividends to San Diego. Most recently he and his son, Dean, committed to stay in San Diego through the year 2020 and were the driving forces behind the upgrades of Qualcomm Stadium.

"I've never been so happy," said Spanos after solidifying the team"s future in San Diego. "I love this city."

"The greatest feeling I've ever had in my career was watching the San Diego Chargers get to the Super Bowl," he added. "It was a tremendous accomplishment for this organization. What I enjoyed most was watching the fans enjoy it. The city deserved it. Our fans deserved it."

His dedication to the team and the City of San Diego has been evident throughout his ownership.

During the 1998 offseason, Spanos announced the creation of the Brooke Humphries Heart Fund in honor of retiring quarterback Stan Humphries. Daughter Brooke underwent major surgery to correct a heart birth defect.

Spanos is widely credited for using his influence with the NFL and its owners to land Super Bowl XXXII for the City of San Diego, which was played Jan. 25, 1998. The game brought close to $300 million to the community. Spanos and his family kicked off Super Bowl week by chairing and contributing $100,000 to the Children's Hospital Super Ball. During the festivities he contributed the same amount to the national Christmas in April program.

In 1995, the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation was created and funded by Spanos to "help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live." Simultaneously, Spanos announced that the first project of the Foundation would be a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million fundraising effort for the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum, for which he serves on the advisory board. With a focus on youth and education, Spanos and the Foundation have contributed millions of dollars to support San Diego charities and organizations.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the city and the people who have been so supportive of me, my family and the Chargers over the years."

In 1995, Spanos donated more than $100,000 for the development of a multi-use sports facility for the Pacific Beach community and the students of Kate Sessions Elementary and The Bishops School. The Alex G. Spanos Sports Fields were dedicated in 1997.

His leadership was instrumental in bringing the 1996 Republican National Convention to San Diego, another financial coup for the city. In 1994, he kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with a $100,000 pledge and challenge to the local community. His donation led to a successful effort to complete the first phase of the world-class facility in San Diego County.

Spanos has been a strong supporter of high school sports in San Diego. He annually sponsors the CIF San Diego Section football championships, allowing the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. His backing of the San Diego High School Sports Association and the San Diego County high school all-star football game led to the game being named the Alex Spanos All-Star Football Classic in 1993.

Spanos built the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the University of California-San Diego where the Chargers hold summer training camp.

He has been a leading contributor to Children's Hospital and Health Center in San Diego, and served as chairman of their first Miracle Network Telethon. He also has served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and the Loaned Executive campaign drive for United Way/CHAD.

Spanos' philanthropy extends across the globe.

Earlier this year Spanos' generosity paid off with separate $1 million donations to three different institutions in California. His support of his alma mater, The University of the Pacific, improved the stadium, athletic facilities and residence halls for the entire student polulation and lured the San Francisco 49ers' training camp to the school. A similar contribution to the Sacramento State's athletic facilities enabled that university to host the 2000 Olympic track and field trials. His support also went to rebuild the Samuel N. Hancock Christian School, a private school in an urban area of Stockton.

In 1997 he gave $1 million to the American Red Cross to help flood victims in Northern California and promised to help raise an additional $1 million.

Spanos drew national attention in 1996 when he came to the rescue of a California volunteer teacher who was stranded in a Cambodian hospital after being badly burned in an accident. After he learned that the woman had no money or insurance and was not receiving the proper medical care, he sent his private jet across the globe to bring her home.

Spanos spearheaded the top fundraising campaign during the Gulf War crisis and delivered the most successful fund-raising event in the history of the United Service Organization. In 1991, he chaired the U.S.O.'s Golden Anniversary Salute Luncheon which raised more than $4.5 million.

Spanos also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fundraising "Evening of Elegance" dinners benefiting assorted children's charities including San Diego Children's Hospital and Health Center. Proceeds from the last "Evening of Elegance" held in 1985 topped the $1 million mark.

Organizations in San Diego and across the country have honored Spanos for his generosity.

In 1995 Spanos was honored by the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce and the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau and received their Chairman's Award for his contributions to the city and community. He received the Golden Achievement Award from the San Diego Boys and Girls Clubs, the group's highest honor for community involvement and youth-related support. California Governor Pete Wilson presented the award to Spanos.

Recently Volunteers of America awarded Spanos the Marco Polo Award for his support of its volunteer initiative. Also this year he received the Warner Award from Pop Warner Youth Football for "Excellence in athletics, scholarship and life's endeavors with integrity and humanity." The American Cinema Awards Foundation honored Spanos two years ago with the Gloria Swanson Humanitarian Award for "his numerous contributions to the arts and educational institutions as well as civic and athletic organizations." Former President Gerald Ford and his wife, Betty, presented the award.

In 1991, Spanos was invited by President George Bush to join him on a two-day goodwill trip to Greece and drew praise from the Chief Executive who singled him out as an American of Greek heritage who has achieved success in America. During an address to the Greek Parliament, Bush credited Spanos with making "a tremendous imprint in our country."

A son of Greek immigrants, Spanos' hard work and determination to succeed were recognized in 1986 when he was one of a select group of 80 Americans awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Commission. In a special ceremony on Ellis Island, the honorees were cited for being "outstanding American citizens who have distinguished themselves in their respective fields of endeavor, while preserving the values of their particular heritage."

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific and a Trustee of the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Springs. He was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree by the University of the Pacific on the same day he gave the commencement address to the 1984 graduating class. In 1989, he received the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith's National Distinguished Community Service Award for devotion to community and concern for others.

This long list of accomplishments and awards demonstrates the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community have been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting as an eight-year-old in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own. He began his own catering business serving migrant farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley. Spanos later began investing in real estate and in 1960 formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company.

Spanos is the founder and chairman of 11 companies bearing his name, including A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Properties, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Marketing, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; A.G. Spanos Jet Center; A.G. Spanos Land Company and The Spanos Corporation.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, they sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning teams in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am in Epsom, England (1980). In 1987 Spanos was inducted into the Stockton Athletic Hall of Fame.

This year Alex and his wife, Faye, are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Aug. 22. The couple has four children - Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael - and 15 grandchildren. They maintain residences in Stockton and Palm Springs, California, and Tarpon Springs, Florida.

Alex and Faye Spanos, with 14 of their 15 grandchildren, have always treasured family above all else.

DEAN A. SPANOS

President/Vice Chairman

Dean Spanos has been overseeing the daily operation of the San Diego Chargers since he took over as President/Vice Chairman in 1994. His presence has been felt in every area of the organization and in the San Diego community since the day his family moved to La Jolla, California, in 1984.

After his father, Alex Spanos, purchased majority interest in the team on Aug. 1, 1984, Dean was the man behind the scenes for the Chargers while serving as President of all Spanos corporate entities and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation. For the past 27 years, Dean has been working alongside his father in apartment construction and land development. He is responsible for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization. In addition to his role in the Spanos Corporation, Dean now carries the full burden of running the Chargers.

Spanos oversees the management and administration of personnel and all fiscal matters of the Chargers. He also plays a prominent role in league affairs and represents the team at all league meetings.

When Alex Spanos turned the Chargers over to his eldest son in January, 1994, he had just one request:

"I said to him, 'Deno, the ball club is yours,' " said Alex Spanos. " 'You run it the best way you know how. Whatever your needs are, just let me know. All I hope for is to get to the playoffs.' Now, could you imagine what a year we had. He took us to the Super Bowl in his first year."

General Manager Bobby Beathard is just as vocal in praising Dean's leadership and contributions.

"The guy that makes it all work for us is Deno," said Beathard.

Dean immediately took on the task of securing the Chargers' future in San Diego. He showed the Spanos family's commitment to San Diego by negotiating a new lease with the City extending through the year 2020. The agreement also refurbished Qualcomm Stadium and expanded the 32-year-old building to accommodate more than 71,000 fans. Spanos oversaw the plans and construction of the team's new practice facility, which is among the finest in the National Football League. The new facility was completed in August, 1997.

"This new lease ensures that both the Chargers and Qualcomm Stadium will always be the pride of our community," Dean said.

Through the Spanos family's focus on youth and education, Dean has taken every opportunity to bring students from throughout San Diego to the stadium to experience a Chargers game. In 1997 he purchased and contributed more than 40,000 Chargers tickets to deserving students for their achievements in school. Dean expects to double that number in 1998 through the Touchdowns for Youth Community Partnership for Education.

Dean is a major contributor throughout the San Diego business and civic community. He is on the board of directors of the San Diego International Sports Council, an elite group of San Diego business executives whose purpose is to promote and enhance sports of all kinds in San Diego. Dean also is on the board of the San Diego Economic Development Corporation as well as the San Diego Inner-City Games. He has been a major contributor and supporter of the American Cancer Society in San Diego and the United Way. Dean co-chaired the US WEST Cellular/San Diego Chargers Charity Classic benefiting Children's Hospital in 1993.

Dean's busy career in business and the National Football League hasn't hampered his status as one of the nation's most successful amateur golfers. An avid golfer since his college years, he has been on the winning team in four Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he teamed with Hubert Green. He was on the winning team at the Hope Classic again in 1991. Spanos and Green won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach in 1985, where Dean was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Also in 1985, he was on the winning team in the Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas with Billy Casper.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born May 26, 1950, in Stockton. He was an outstanding member of the Lincoln High School golf team in Stockton. Dean received the Lincoln High Hall of Fame Award which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics. Dean continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, from which he received a degree in business administration in 1972. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a Regent at the University. Dean and his wife, Susie, reside in La Jolla, California, with their sons, Alexander Gus (July 2, 1978) and John Dean (Nov. 7, 1979). A.G. is a junior business major at the University of Southern California. As a freshman he attended Tufts University in Medford, Mass., where he was a member of the football team. He received six varsity letters as a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School. John is a freshman at Wake Forest University. While at The Bishops School in La Jolla, he earned nine varsity letters in a variety of sports, including football, basketball and golf, and played on three championship teams.

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Executive Vice President

Michael Spanos, the youngest son of Alex Spanos, and Executive Vice President of all the A.G. Spanos corporate entities, assumed the same position in the Chargers' management team in 1995.

Michael, 39, assists Chargers President/Vice Chairman Dean Spanos in financial matters related to the ball club and relevant issues pertaining to the National Football League, which includes representing the Chargers at annual league meetings.

Michael has been an executive in the Spanos corporate organization for 18 years. He is responsible for all activities in construction, property management and land acquisition in the Southeast United States and Northern California. Born in Stockton, California, in 1959, he attended Lincoln High School and then the University of the Pacific, where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration.

In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific where he served for five years. He also served as a trustee on the Board of Dameron Hospital and is very active in the Greek Orthodox Church. He contributes both his time and resources to the church and many other charitable causes in his hometown of Stockton.

Michael and his wife, Helen, live with their children in Stockton.

BOBBY BEATHARD

General Manager

36th NFL Season,
9th with Chargers

The Chargers will feature a new look in 1998 as Bobby Beathard enters his ninth season as the team's general manager.

Disappointed with last year's 4-12 record, Beathard and the Chargers' organization set out during the '98 offseason to strengthen the team in several key areas.

Through free agency, the Chargers' offense gained immediate help by adding two of the NFL's most-coveted veteran offensive linemen in left tackle John Jackson (Steelers) and left guard Aaron Taylor (Packers). San Diego also signed center-guard Roman Fortin (Falcons) for much needed stability and depth. The team's running game will get a boost with the return of running back Natrone Means, who set San Diego's single-season rushing record with 1,350 yards in the Chargers' 1994 Super Bowl season. Veteran wide receiver Webster Slaughter also will add valuable experience.

San Diego's defense and special teams will benefit thanks to the signing of linebacker Gerald Dixon, who led Cincinnati in 1997 with eight sacks while adding 22 tackles on special teams.

After quarterback Stan Humphries announced his retirement in February, San Diego was left without a proven quarterback. Beathard and his staff changed that by making one of the biggest trades in team history to move up to the second spot in the draft in order to select the quarterback who will lead the Chargers into the new millenium — Washington State's Ryan Leaf.

To get Leaf, the Chargers traded their 1998 first-round (third overall) and second-round (32nd overall) and 1999 first-round picks, as well as wide receiver Eric Metcalf and linebacker Patrick Sapp, to Arizona to move up to the second spot in the draft.

"Everyone is excited," said Beathard after making the trade. "I don't think you get an opportunity to get a guy like this very often."

"I'm delighted," added Head Coach Kevin Gilbride. "We realize it was costly, but we all feel good about it."

"Man, I can't tell you how excited we are," said President/Vice Chairman Dean Spanos. "Everybody in the entire organization is ecstatic."

The Chargers also added invaluable NFL experience to their coaching ranks when Beathard and Gilbride recruited two of the league's most-respected coaches — June Jones and Joe Bugel. Jones, who was the head coach of the Atlanta Falcons from 1994-96, will be in charge of tutoring Leaf and the Chargers' quarterbacks. Bugel, who has been a head coach in Oakland (1997) and Arizona (1990-93), was named the Chargers' offensive line coach, bringing his immense enthusiasm and reputation to aide the Chargers' offensive line.

In addition to acquiring new players and coaches in 1998, the Chargers have spent the past two years signing their top players to long-term deals. During the 1997 regular-season, perennial Pro Bowl linebacker Junior Seau was re-signed to a contract through the 2002 season, which made him the highest paid linebacker in NFL history at the time of deal.

In 1997 and 1998, the Chargers re-signed several key players to multi-year contracts, including: Chargers Defensive Most Valuable Player safety Rodney Harrison, cornerback Dwayne Harper, linebacker Lew Bush, defensive tackle Reuben Davis, defensive end Raylee Johnson, running back Terrell Fletcher, tackles Tony Berti and Vaughn Parker, guard Troy Sienkiewicz and quarterback Craig Whelihan.

When Alex Spanos named Beathard general manager of the Chargers January 3, 1990, it brought hope to a city thirsting for a winner. He turned the NFL's oldest team of the 1970s — the Washington Redskins — into one of the most successful organizations of the 1980s. In just his third season in San Diego the organization won it's first AFC Western Division championship in more than a decade and, after five years, appeared in its first Super Bowl.

When the 1994 San Diego Chargers earned a trip to Super Bowl XXIX in Miami, Florida, it marked the seventh time a Beathard team has journeyed to the world championship. Four times his team has produced a Super Bowl victory.

The 1966 Kansas City Chiefs...the 1972 and '73 Miami Dolphins...the 1982, '83 and '87 Washington Redskins...and the 1994 San Diego Chargers were all products of Beathard's handiwork. Though success has followed him through every step of his NFL career, Beathard remains one of the league's most low-key personalities.

He immediately set out in 1990 to bring top athletes with a winning attitude to San Diego. Acting with the same vitality and decisiveness that highlights his 36 years as an NFL talent evaluator, his judgment was on the mark in 1990 when seven players from his first draft in San Diego ended up in the starting lineup, including Pro Bowler Junior Seau. Each year, a majority of the team's draftees continue to make the team's roster. The trend continued in 1997 when five of the Chargers' eight draft picks saw game action as rookies.

Leveraging tomorrow to help today also is a Beathard trademark. Since coming to San Diego in 1990, he has traded a future number-one draft choice six times in nine drafts, including twice in 1998.

In 1997, Beathard did not move up in the draft, but the team's top choice, tight end Freddie Jones from North Carolina, made an immediate impact by starting eight of 13 games and catching 41 passes for 505 yards and two touchdowns. It was the most receptions and receiving yards by a Chargers tight end since Kellen Winslow had 53 catches for 519 yards in 1987.

In 1998, the draft-day trend continued when Beathard traded the team's first-round pick in 2000 for Tampa Bay's 1998 second-round pick for the right to select wide receiver Mikhael Ricks from Stephen F. Austin with the 59th overall choice in the draft. At 6-5, 237, Ricks gives the Chargers a prototypical, big NFL wide receiver.

Beathard has demonstrated a keen eye for talent since becoming a part-time scout with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1963. He left the Chiefs briefly to scout for the American Football League and returned to Kansas City full-time after the AFL-NFL merger in 1966. He earned his first championship ring as a member of the 1966 Chiefs' organization. Beathard then served as a scout for the Falcons, 1968-71.

In 1972, Beathard was named director of player personnel for the Miami Dolphins. The Dolphins won the following two Super Bowls. Then on February 24, 1978, the Redskins made Bobby their general manager and he ultimately showed the league that first-round draft picks were weapons to be used in trades. In his 11 years at Washington, the Redskins had only three first-round picks. They went to the Super Bowl three times and won twice.

Beathard's handiwork was apparent on all three Super Bowl teams, including the World Champion Redskins of 1982 whose roster included an astounding 27 free agents signed by Beathard since he joined the team in 1978. The 1983 squad, which finished 14-2, also made it to the Super Bowl. The Super Bowl XXII team defeated Denver, 42-10, in San Diego.

Beathard left the Redskins to serve as a commentator for the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) on its weekly "NFL '89" show during the 1989 season.

When Beathard joined the Chargers, he returned to the Southern California lifestyle in which he was raised. Born in Zanesville, Ohio, January 24, 1937, Robert Beathard, Jr., grew up in the Los Angeles area and attended El Segundo High. He moved on to Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo where he played quarterback, 1956-58, and helped lead the 1957 and '58 teams to consecutive 9-1 records.

Bobby and his wife, Christine, reside in Leucadia, California. Beathard is an avid runner, surfer and cyclist. He has run in dozens of marathons, including several Boston Marathons. Beathard has four children: sons Kurt (Jan. 4, 1963), currently the offensive coordinator at Western Carolina; Jeff (June 9, 1964), a twelfth-round choice of the Rams in 1988 who is a scout for the Chargers; and Casey (Dec. 2, 1965), a songwriter and singer in Nashville, Tennessee, who also scouts part-time for the Chargers; and daughter Jaime (Sept. 25, 1968). Bobby also has 10 grandchildren with an eleventh expected in September.

KEVIN GILBRIDE

Head Coach

10th NFL Season,
2nd with Chargers

The San Diego Chargers tapped into one of the NFL's most dynamic coaching minds when General Manager Bobby Beathard named former Jacksonville Jaguars Offensive Coordinator Kevin Gilbride as the tenth head coach in Chargers' history on January 19, 1997.

"We are very excited to name Kevin Gilbride our head coach," said Beathard. "He's an exciting and innovative coach who has been on the cutting edge of offensive football in the National Football League.

"The search around the league just emphasized our original thoughts that Kevin is a well-respected and rising talent in this league."

"I thought the best move I could make was to go with the Chargers' organization," said Gilbride. "The success they've had...the ability of Bobby Beathard...the support of the Spanos family. For me, San Diego was the perfect fit.

"I felt the strength of the organization was most important. I felt most comfortable here. What these people have done in the past —going to the Super Bowl only a few years ago — their track record speaks for itself.

"I'm really excited about the process of building back a football team that will be in the playoffs again and one the San Diego community can be proud of."

The 46-year-old Gilbride is a veteran of 24 years in coaching, including nine seasons in the NFL. He joined the Chargers after spending the previous two seasons (1995-96) as the offensive coordinator of the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Gilbride spent his first season in San Diego in 1997 building the team's coaching staff and implementing his innovative offensive system. And while the Chargers suffered through a host of devastating injuries, including the loss of the team's top two quarterbacks, the offense showed glimpses of things to come.

The first glance of the Chargers' future came September 28, 1997, versus Baltimore when the the team passed for 352 yards and amassed 440 total yards on its way to a 21-17 win over the Ravens. It was the most total yards gained by the Chargers' offense since gaining 465 yards versus the Cincinnati Bengals on September 11, 1994, a span of 50 regular-season games. It was also the most yards passing by the Chargers' offense in over eight seasons since September 17, 1989, when the team passed for 372 yards versus Houston, a span of 129 regular-season games.

Three weeks after gaining 440 total yards against Baltimore, the Chargers' offense showed its balance by rushing for 202 yards and gaining 424 total yards in a 35-19 win over Indianapolis. It was the most yards rushing by the Chargers' offense since it gained 220 yards on the ground versus Miami on December 27, 1993, a span of 56 regular-season games.

In 1996 when Gilbride was guiding Jacksonville's offense, the Jaguars had the top-ranked passing offense in the NFL when they averaged 259.7 yards passing per game. Jacksonville also ranked second overall in the league in total offense by averaging 360.2 yards per game in 1996.

"Kevin is an outstanding football coach," said Jaguars' head coach Tom Coughlin. "His vast experience and great instincts make him a very poised game-day coach. Kevin is a very effective leader. The players will respond to Kevin, and the San Diego Chargers will be successful under him."

Jacksonville's potent offense was one of the reasons the Jaguars advanced to the 1996 AFC Championship Game in just their second year in existence. Jacksonville upset the Buffalo Bills and the Denver Broncos by identical scores, 30-27, before falling to the New England Patriots, 20-6, in the AFC Championship Game.

In addition to his duties as offensive coordinator, Gilbride also tutored the Jaguars' quarterbacks and had a major impact in the development of quarterback Mark Brunell. Brunell led the NFL with 4,145 yards passing in 1996 and also led all NFL quarterbacks in rushing with 396 yards. In his first season with the team in 1995, Gilbride helped develop Brunell from an inexperienced quarterback who had played in just two previous NFL games into the top-ranked passer ever for an expansion team. In 1995, the Jaguars' offense scored an average of 17.2 points per game, second highest ever among previous expansion teams.

Prior to joining Jacksonville, Gilbride was the assistant head coach/offense for the Houston Oilers in 1994 after serving four seasons (1990-93) as the Oilers' offensive coordinator. Under Gilbride, the Oilers' offense ranked first in the NFL in passing yards from 1990 through 1992 and was third in 1993. For four consecutive seasons (1990-93), the Oilers ranked among the NFL's top three teams in total offense (including No. 1 in 1990), and entering the 1994 campaign, the Oilers had scored more points over a four-year span than 26 of the other 27 NFL teams. During that same span, the Oilers also ranked among the NFL's top five teams in third-down efficiency and first downs. Gilbride joined the Oilers as quarterbacks coach in 1989.

Even though he is known primarily as an offensive coach, Gilbride has extensive experience as a defensive coach as well. This balance between offensive and defensive coaching experience has given Gilbride a clear idea of how he wants the San Diego Chargers to play.

"Our offensive philosophy is an easy one: do whatever it takes to move the football," said Gilbride. "The starting point always has to be the ability to both run and throw the football. Not everyone strives to do that equally as well. But we will have a balanced, systematic style that will use a lot of different formations, a lot of different personnel groups. We'll try to intelligently attack defenses within the framework of our offensive system."

Gilbride is equally clear about his defensive philosophy.

"We're going to be a diversified, aggressive defense that will employ a lot of different fronts and coverages," said Gilbride. "Our defense will have the flexibility necessary to defend the many different and varied offensive attacks that we will confront. We'll also have the ability to keep offenses off-balance through pressure packages designed to keep them off the field and from having a lot of time-consuming drives."

A former quarterback and tight end for Southern Connecticut State, Gilbride began his coaching career in 1974 at Idaho State. He also had stops as linebackers coach at Tufts University (1976-77) and defensive coordinator at American International College (1978-79), before gaining his first head coaching job at Southern Connecticut State (1980-84). While at SCSU, Gilbride posted a 35-14-2 record and was named New England Coach of the Year and NCAA Division II Coach of the Year by various groups, including the ECAC Officials, the Walter Camp Foundation and the New Haven Gridiron Club. He coached a couple of former NFL players at SCSU — defensive tackle Scott Mersereau (Jets) and tight end Travis Tucker (Browns).

In 1985 and 1986 Gilbride was with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League, the first season as quarterbacks/receivers coach before being elevated to offensive coordinator in 1986. He then returned to the college ranks at East Carolina as passing game coordinator in 1987 and offensive coordinator in 1988 prior to joining the Houston Oilers.

"I certainly think my time in the Canadian Football League influenced my offensive thinking," said Gilbride. "That's where a lot of the principles of our passing game came from. The impact of the wide-open approach to throwing the football and moving the football; the use of many different formations was sharpened and enhanced through my time in the CFL."

Gilbride credits many coaches throughout his career for having a great impact on his career and coaching philosophy, including three NFL head coaches he tutored under.

"All of the coaches I've been around have contributed to my coaching philosophy," Gilbride said. "Jerry Glanville had a great feel for players — when to back off, when to push. He had a great sense of timing in dealing with the team in order to maintain a high intensity level. He had a good sense of the players emotionally.

"Jack Pardee gave me great insight into consistency — the importance of a head coach to maintain a consistent demeanor. Consistency is important to maintain trust and a level of dependability.

"Tom Coughlin reinforced the need to be committed completely to the profession and the job so that the details are attended to. His discipline and structure certainly have influenced the way I will go about things from an organizational point of view."

But the person who had the most profound effect in Gilbride's life was his father.

"The single most influential person in my life definitely was my father," said the head coach. "My father was a high school math teacher and coach, and I saw the pleasure and joy he received and the impact he had on young lives. That motivated me to get into this profession because I wanted to have an impact in a positive way on young people.

"The values that he instilled in me about life in general have stuck with me — perseverance, work ethic, willingness to sacrifice personally in order to achieve your goals. Those were the things that he cherished and had the greatest impact on me."

Gilbride was born August 27, 1951, in New Haven, Connecticut. The oldest of seven children, including three brothers and three sisters, Kevin was a three-sport star at North Haven High School in North Haven, Connecticut. He played quarterback, forward on the basketball team and pitched for the baseball team. He suffered a knee injury in his senior football season, which later turned out to be a torn anterior cruciate ligament, and never had surgery, dimming a bright athletic future. Gilbride played one football season at the United States Merchant Marines Academy in Long Island, New York. He later enrolled at Southern Connecticut State University and played three seasons as a tight end. He graduated from SCSU with a degree in physical education and received his master's degree in sports administration from Idaho State.

While serving as the offensive coordinator of the Oilers in 1992, a routine physical revealed his greatest fear. Oiler offensive lineman Doug Dawson pushed the busy coach to get a long-overdue physical so he could sell Gilbride a life insurance policy. Following the physical on Tuesday, Dec. 1, Gilbride "just knew something was up." On Tuesday, Dec. 8, he underwent surgery to remove a tumor the size of a grapefruit along with his right kidney.

"It was a heck of a wake-up call," said Gilbride, who's father died at age 45 when Kevin was 20. "What that experience did was reinforce what I always felt. You better not waste time, and whatever is important to you, you better go for it with as much gusto as you have. Don't think you have forever. Whatever you think is important, you better get it done."

Since his surgery, Gilbride has been very active in working with organizations such as the American Cancer Society and the Polycystic Kidney Disease Research Foundation as well as other cancer treatment and research organizations. Since coming to San Diego, Gilbride also has joined the March of Dimes' fight against children's birth defects and become the honorary chairman of the organization's annual golf tournament.

Kevin and his wife, Deborah, have two daughters, Kelly (Sept. 11, 1975) and Kristen (June 19, 1977), and a son, Kevin (Dec. 14, 1979). Kelly recently graduated with a degree in psychology from Harvard University. Kristen is a senior education major at the University of Connecticut. Kevin, a three-sport star in high school, will be attending Brigham Young University in the fall on a full football scholarship.

The Gilbrides reside in Alpine, California, about 20 miles east of San Diego.

Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named Nick Nicolau the team's assistant head coach on February 5, 1997.

"I had the good fortune of working with Nick at Jacksonville for two years (1995-96) and grew to admire and appreciate the expertise he possesses," said Gilbride. "We were fortunate to hire him."

Nicolau, a veteran of 18 years of coaching in the National Football League, spent two seasons (1995-96) on the Jacksonville Jaguars' staff with Gilbride as the tight ends coach. Prior to that, Nicolau spent three years (1992-94) as the offensive coordinator for the Indianapolis Colts.

Nicolau, 65, began his NFL coaching career in 1980 as running backs coach for the New Orleans Saints. JOE PASCALE

Defensive Coordinator

13th NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

Joe Pascale became the Chargers' defensive coordinator on January 27, 1997. He is a veteran of 31 years in coaching, including 12 in the National Football League, two in the United States Football League, four in the Canadian Football League and 13 years in the collegiate ranks. During his coaching career, Pascale has coached every position on defense and has been a defensive coordinator in the NFL, CFL and on the collegiate level.

"I've known Joe for 24 years and from the first moment I worked with him, I have been impressed with his intellect, work habits and character," said Head Coach Kevin Gilbride.

Before joining the Chargers, Pascale spent three seasons (1994-96) as the linebackers coach of the Cincinnati Bengals. In 1996, the Bengals' defense led the NFL in takeaways with 44, including 34 interceptions and 10 fumble recoveries. Cincinnati's 34 interceptions also led the league in 1996.

Before joining the Bengals, Pascale spent eight seasons (1986-93) on the defensive staff of the Phoenix Cardinals.

During his NFL coaching career, Pascale has worked with several outstanding linebackers, including Ken Harvey, Freddie Joe Nunn, Eric Hill, E.J. Junior, James Francis, Junior Seau and Steve Tovar.

Before his stint with the Cardinals, Pascale coached two seasons (1984-85) for the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League. Pascale spent four seasons coaching in the Canadian Football League, including two each with the Ottawa Rough Riders (1982-83) and Montreal Alouettes (1980-81). Pascale played linebacker, nose tackle and offensive guard at the University of Connecticut for four seasons (1963-66). He also played defense on the school's lacrosse team. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees in education from Connecticut, and also completed an advanced graduate curriculum in education administration at Connecticut.

Joseph Vincent Pascale was born April 17, 1946, in New York City. He played football for Lakeland High School in Peekskill, New York. Joe and his wife, Lucille, have a son, Joseph (March 22, 1977).

MIKE SHEPPARD

Offensive Coordinator/ Wide Receivers

6th NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named former Baltimore Ravens' wide receivers coach Mike Sheppard as the Chargers' offensive coordinator on February 26, 1997. Last year, Sheppard assisted Gilbride and Assistant Head Coach Nick Nicolau in teaching San Diego's offense while also tutoring the team's quarterbacks. In 1998, Sheppard will be in charge of the team's wide receivers and will work closely with Quarterbacks Coach June Jones in implementing the Chargers' offensive system.

In addition to coaching Baltimore's wide receivers in 1996, Sheppard handled the Ravens' play calling when they had the NFL's third-ranked offense (357.7 yards per game) and second-ranked passing game (248.6 yards per game). The only passing offense to finish higher than Baltimore's was Jacksonville's (256.9 yards per game), which was led by Gilbride.

Sheppard, a coaching veteran of 24 years — including eight seasons as a head coach on the collegiate level — spent four seasons with Baltimore and the Cleveland Browns. He originally joined the Browns as the team's tight ends coach in 1993 before spending three seasons (1994-96) coaching wide receivers.

Before joining the Browns, Sheppard was offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at California for one season (1992). He spent five years (1987-91) as head coach at the University of New Mexico. Sheppard also was the head coach at Long Beach State for three years (1984-86).

Sheppard's other coaching experience includes stops at Kansas (offensive coordinator and quarterbacks, 1983), Long Beach State (quarterbacks, 1982), Idaho State (quarterbacks and receivers, 1980-81), United States International University (offensive coordinator and quarterbacks, 1979), Brigham Young (graduate assistant/offense, 1977-78) and Cal Lutheran (receivers, 1974-76).

A 1973 graduate with a bachelor's degree in business from Cal Lutheran, Sheppard was a two-sport standout who earned all-district honors in both football and baseball as a junior and senior. He was chosen most valuable lineman in the 1971 NAIA national championship game and won All-America honors in 1972. He was named the baseball team's most valuable player in his senior season and played professional baseball for one summer with the Portland Mavericks (1973).

JOE BUGEL

Offensive Line

23rd NFL Season, 1st with Chargers

The Chargers added 33 years of coaching experience, including 22 years in the National Football League, when Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named former Oakland Raiders and Arizona Cardinals Head Coach Joe Bugel as the Chargers' Offensive Line Coach on January 26, 1998.

"Joe's experience with the offensive line lends great credibility to him," said Gilbride upon Bugel's hiring. "I'm really impressed with his enthusiasm. He will be a step in the right direction and we have really helped out our staff by adding him."

"I'm excited about it in a big, big way," said Bugel. "One thing I missed was being on the football field with the offensive line. I wanted to get back to that."

"He is so enthusiastic, he is a complete team guy," said Chargers' General Manager Bobby Beathard who won two Super Bowls with Bugel in Washington. "I think he is going to work great with Kevin and the rest of our coaching staff."

Bugel, 58, will be taking over a young offensive line which surrendered 51 sacks in 1997. Only five NFL teams gave up more sacks than the Chargers last year.

"If they were all five Pro Bowlers, then I wouldn't want to come because they wouldn't need my help," added Bugel. "If they want hard work, they're getting the right guy."

Before joining the Chargers, Bugel spent the previous three seasons (1995-97) with Oakland, serving as assistant head coach/offense from 1995-96 before being elevated to head coach for the 1997 season. Prior to working in Oakland, Bugel was the head coach for the Arizona Cardinals for four seasons (1990-93).

In his 17 seasons as an NFL assistant, Bugel's teams have posted a 159-99 record (.616 winning percentage), including 13 winning seasons and eight playoff appearances. Bugel has participated in three Super Bowls, six conference championship games and 21 playoff contests.

From 1981-89, Bugel was in charge of the offensive line for the Washington Redskins where he developed the famous "Hogs" offensive line. He began as the Redskins' offensive coordinator in 1981 and was promoted to assistant head coach in charge of the offensive line in 1983. Under Bugel's tutelage, the Redskins scored an NFL-record 541 points (1983), had four 1,000-yard rushers, one 4,000-yard passer and nine 1,000-yard receivers.

Chargers General Manager Bobby Beathard was with Bugel in Washington, serving as the Redskins' general manager from 1978-88. Washington won two Super Bowls while Bugel and Beathard were with the team following the 1982 and 1987 seasons.

From 1977-80, Bugel was the offensive line coach for the Houston Oilers, during which time the team set records in rushing and passing.

Bugel entered the professional coaching ranks as the offensive line coach for the Detroit Lions from 1975-76.

He also worked at Ohio State (1974) under Woody Hayes, Iowa State (1973), Navy (1969-72) and his alma mater Western Kentucky (1964-68).

Born March 10, 1940, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Bugel was a two-way star in football at Munhall High School. He walked onto the football team at Western Kentucky and eventually earned a scholarship. Bugel was an all-conference guard from 1960-63 and also played linebacker.

Bugel earned a bachelor's degree from Western Kentucky in physical education in 1963 and a master's degree in counseling from Western Kentucky in 1964.

Bugel and his wife, Brenda, have three daughters — Angie (Jan. 22, 1970), Holly (Aug.16, 1972) and Jennifer (Oct. 13, 1976).

JUNE JONES

Quarterbacks

15th NFL Season, 1st with Chargers

The Chargers' offense inherited one of the brightest offensive minds in the National Football League when Head Coach Kevin Gilbride named former Atlanta Falcons Head Coach June Jones as the Chargers quarterbacks coach on January 20, 1998.

"He's a good football coach and I've known him for a long time," said Gilbride. "I think his presence will contribute immediately to the improvement of our football team."

"I'm looking forward to this," said Jones. "I feel comfortable with the guys in San Diego. I know a lot of those guys, and it's important to me to be comfortable with the people around you. That trickles down to the players."

"I'm happy for June," said Green Bay Packers Quarterback and three-time NFL Most Valuable Player Brett Favre who played under Jones in 1991 in Atlanta. "He's really a great coach and truly one of the great guys in the league. Every time I see June, I think of the patience and teaching that he gave me. It was something he didn't have to do. I think he'll do really well with San Diego."

Jones spent three seasons (1994-96) as the head coach of the Falcons and compiled a regular-season record of 19-29. In 1995 Jones led the Falcons to a 9-7 record and their first playoff berth since 1991. Under Jones' direction, the Falcons' offense gained 5,613 total yards in 1994, the most since 1983. In 1995, the Falcons had the first 4,000-yard passer in team history when Jeff George passed for 4,143 yards.

Prior to being named head coach, Jones served three seasons (1991-93) as Atlanta's assistant head coach/offense. The Falcons established a club record with 33 passing touchdowns in 1992 with Jones guiding the offense. The team also passed for 30 touchdowns in 1991 and 28 in 1993.

Before joining the Falcons, Jones was the quarterbacks/wide receivers coach for the Detroit Lions for two seasons (1989-90). Under his influence the Lions were the fifth-highest scoring team in the NFL (373 points), third in total yards in the NFC (3,636), and first in average gain per rush (5.3 yards) in 1990.

Jones began his NFL coaching career as the quarterbacks coach for the Houston Oilers (1987-88). The Oilers had the second-highest scoring offense in the NFL in 1988 when they averaged 26.5 yards per game.

Jones spent one season (1986) as an offensive assistant for the Ottawa Roughriders of the Canadian Football League after serving one year (1985) as the offensive coordinator of the Denver Gold of the United States Football League. He also served one season (1984) as the wide receivers coach for the USFL's Houston Gamblers.

Jones began his coaching career as the quarterbacks coach at the University of Hawaii in 1983.

Before getting into coaching, Jones played quarterback professionally for the Atlanta Falcons (1977-1981) and the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League (1982). Jones completed 75 of 166 passes for 923 yards, three touchdowns and seven interceptions as an NFL quarterback. He spent the majority of his career as a backup to Steve Bartkowski, who remains a close friend.

Jones collegiate playing career began at the University of Oregon (1971-72), where George Seifert and John Robinson were on the coaching staff and NFL Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts and Washington Redskins Head Coach Norv Turner were Jones' teammates. After two years at Oregon, Jones moved on to the University of Hawaii (1973-74) before finally ending up at Portland State (1975-76), where he played for the highly-respected Mouse Davis.

MEDIA GUIDELINES

On behalf of the San Diego Chargers, welcome to the 1998 National Football League season. As we enter our second full season in the renovated Qualcomm Stadium, we hope to make your job covering the Chargers as easy and pleasant as possible. Here are a few simple guidelines to help you.

Media credentials are issued to working media only. Season and individual game credential holders should enter through the press entrance at Gate H. The press entrance and press will-call open four hours prior to the game. Credentials are non-transferable, and any unauthorized use will subject bearer to ejection from Qualcomm Stadium and confiscation of the credential.

Season media passes will be issued to recognized newspapers, magazines, television and established radio stations making reasonable requests on company letterhead. Please indicate persons that will be using each pass. It is imperative that season pass holders notify this office of their intentions to cover a game in order to reserve press seating.

Individual game credentials should be requested in writing through the public relations department (through mail or fax) a minimum of 72 hours prior to game time. Our PR fax number is (619) 292-2760. Pre-arranged passes must be picked up from Robyn Walters at the Chargers office no later than 4 p.m. the Friday before the game or at the press will call window located at Gate H on the day of the game. Credentials will be issued on an availability-only basis.

Press booth and press box credentials are valid for admittance to the stadium, press box, field (for the final two minutes of the game) and both locker rooms (postgame only). Field and photo passes are good for admittance to the stadium, press box, field and both locker rooms (postgame only). Requests for interviews to take place prior to the game with injured players not suiting up for the game or front office staff members must be made well in advance. The locker rooms will open 10-12 minutes after they are closed postgame. The officials' locker room is off limits to media. Should a comment or interpretation for the game's officials be needed, a pool reporter may be assigned. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a working atmosphere. ABSOLUTELY NO AUTOGRAPHS ALLOWED DURING MEDIA ACCESS PERIODS.

Interviews which need advance preparation or special accommodation by a Chargers' player, coach or staff member should be made by contacting the Chargers Public Relations Department. This includes all live and taped television interviews both pre and postgame.

Photo credentials will be issued in the same manner as other passes. Only working photographers will be allowed on the field during the game. Because of strict NFL guidelines, non-working personnel, including television reporters, will not be allowed on the field during the game (except for the final two minutes). Weekly newspapers and magazines on assignment may obtain passes by having the photo editor request a single-game credential. Because of strict NFL guidelines, it is impossible to allow freelance photographers access unless assigned to shoot for a specific story or project.

Telephones for working media in the press box should be ordered through Gary Brashear of San Diego Sports Communications at Qualcomm Stadium (619-281-1500).

Chargers public relations personnel Bill Johnston, David Neville, Scott Yoffe and Robyn Walters can be found in Row 2, Seats 38-40, to the left of the PA booth on the 25-yard line. Following the game, the Chargers' public relations department can be found in the press box.

FAX service is available by contacting Joe Brucia in the auxiliary press room or in Row 4, Seat 134. Any reporters who desire to have postgame statistics sent to their papers via fax can arrange to do so through Brucia for a $25 charge. Two pay phones are located in the auxiliary press room next to the dining room.

Statisticians are available to assist radio and television broadcasters by contacting the Chargers' public relations department. These services must be arranged a minimum of 72 hours prior to kickoff, and once they are made, the statistician must be compensated whether or not used.

Appropriate game credentials are necessary for locker room access postgame. Kevin Gilbride's interview room is located next to the visitors' locker room. The visiting head coach will meet the media inside the visitors' locker room. The coaches' locker room is closed to the press, but coaches are available through the teams' public relations representatives. Typewritten quotes from both locker rooms will be provided in the press box after the game.

Exit the press box and go down Elevator 4 to Level 1 (Plaza). Stadium security is located to the right at Gate A.

The telephone number for Yellow Cab is (619) 234-6161. Pickups are made at the Gate F security door on the main Plaza Level.

We hope this outline of procedures and guidelines will assist you in your coverage of the San Diego Chargers and the National Football League at Qualcomm Stadium. Please don't hesitate to call on us if you need additional assistance. We look forward to working with you this season.

Sincerely,

The Chargers Public Relations Department

CHARGERS AMBASSADORS

ROLF BENIRSCHKE

WILLIE BUCHANON

GILL BYRD

DON MACEK

Four great Chargers of the past returned to the fold when the team welcomed Rolf Benirschke, Willie Buchanon, Gill Byrd and Don Macek as Chargers Ambassadors.

These former players represent the rich history and tradition of the Chargers in San Diego. They serve as liaisons in the community as well as representatives at all Chargers events. All four were team leaders and performers to the highest standard both on and off the field during their playing careers. Each has continued as a leader in the community since his retirement.

Benirschke played 10 seasons with the Chargers, culminating his career in 1986. When he retired, Rolf was the team's all-time record holder with 766 points scored. He was officially inducted into the team's Hall of Fame on Sunday, September 28, 1997. His roots are deep in San Diego as he is a graduate of La Jolla High School. Currently, Benirschke is a partner in the Eastman Benirschke Financial Group. Rolf and his wife, Mary, live with their daughter, Kari, and sons, Erik, Timmy and Ryan, in Del Mar.

Buchanon is another outstanding product of the San Diego community. Willie attended Oceanside High School and San Diego State before playing his final four NFL seasons with the Chargers. He returned to San Diego to stay in 1979 when he was traded from the Green Bay Packers. Willie was a starting cornerback for the Chargers during the team's four playoff seasons from 1979-82. After retiring, Willie became a real estate broker. Willie and his wife, Gwen, live in Oceanside with their children, Jenae and William.

Byrd is the youngest member of the Chargers Ambassadors. Gill retired after the 1993 season as the team's all-time interception leader with 42. In his 10 playing seasons, Byrd started at all four positions in the secondary, though the majority of his action came at cornerback. He will officially be inducted into the Chargers' Hall of Fame at halftime of a Chargers' game this season. The Byrds, Gill, Marilyn, Gill Jr. and Jairus, live in Poway. In addition to thoroughly enjoying his time, Gill is developing Christian radio programming with athletes dedicated to helping children.

Macek was a fixture in the Chargers' great offensive lines of the late '70s and '80s. He came to San Diego in 1976 and played 14 years before retiring after the 1989 season. Currently, he is an owner of North Park Car Wash and All-American Car Wash in Mira Mesa. Don and his wife, Jan, have three children, Scott, Lindsay and Jenna, and live in Escondido, California.

San Diego Benefits from Spanos' Family Values

From the first moment Alex Spanos took over ownership of the San Diego Chargers, his desire to create a winning atmosphere in San Diego has spilled over into the community.

Without hesitation, Spanos devoted himself and his resources to improving the circumstances for countless charities and organizations throughout the county.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the city and the people who have been so supportive of me, my family and the Chargers over the years."

Eldest son Dean serves as President/Vice Chairman of the Chargers. He and his wife, Susie, and two sons, A.G. and John, live in La Jolla.

Because family is such an integral part of his own success, Alex finds it hard to say no to organizations dedicated to improving the lives of children. He was chairman of San Diego Children's Hospital's first Miracle Network Telethon, has served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and was chairman of the Loaned Executive campaign during the annual United Way/CHAD drive in San Diego County. He has donated substantially to benefit critically ill youngsters at Children's Hospital and Health Center in San Diego. He also kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with a $100,000 pledge and challenge to the local community. His donation led to a successful effort to complete the first phase of the Southern California facility. Spanos received the Chairman's Award for contributions to the city from the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce and the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Since purchasing the team in 1984, the Spanos' have given more than $8 million to nonprofit organizations throughout San Diego County. Here are just a few of Spanos' many contributions over the past two years: $800,000 worth of Chargers' game tickets to worthy school children, $100,000 to Christmas in April, $100,000 for the creation of the Brooke Humphries Heart Fund, $1 million to the American Red Cross to benefit flood victims in Northern California, and more than $100,000 to build athletic fields in Pacific Beach.

Recently, Volunteers of America awarded Spanos the Marco Polo Award for his support of its volunteer initiative. Also in 1998 he received the Warner Award from Pop Warner Youth Football for "Excellence in athletics, scholarship and life's endeavors with integrity and humanity."

Chargers Owner Alex Spanos (center) surprised NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue and his wife Chan with a gift of $100,000 to Christmas in April in 1998. Spanos has donated millions to nonprofit organizations throughout San Diego County.

Working to Make San Diego a Better Place to Live

Long before the Chargers' fantastic Super Bowl season, Alex Spanos' love for sports and San Diego have paid dividends for the City.

His spirit of giving led to the creation of the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation, a nonprofit organization dedicated for the benefit of San Diego County.

The Foundation's primary mission is to help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live. With the early success of the Foundation here in town, there are now plans to expand its focus to reach more people nationally. The Spanos family's national reach and contacts will be a huge benefit to the San Diego area as well.

The first project of the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation was a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million capital campaign fundraising effort of the San Diego Hall of Champions. The Hall of Champions documents the history of sports as a museum and tourist attraction, and it provides programs for young people.

Spanos Classic Benefits High School Football

Thanks to the support of Chargers' owner Alex Spanos, San Diego County's premier senior football players get the opportunity annually to conclude their high-school careers in the Spanos All-Star Football Classic.

The High School Sports Association of San Diego gathers the county's best senior football players for a matchup between North and South schools.

In addition to making the game possible through his contributions, Spanos donates a $1,000 scholarship in the names of the game's most valuable offensive and defensive players to each school's respective athletic departments.

Spanos has consistently been a strong supporter of San Diego high school football. He annually sponsors the California Interscholastic Federation (CIF) San Diego football championships, which are played at Qualcomm Stadium.

Chargers Legacy of Support

The Chargers' support of charitable organizations comes in many forms. A desire to help out as many as possible translates into the donation of money, tickets, luxury suites, training camp visits, road trips, autographed jerseys and footballs.

The Chargers have contributed to hundreds of charities over the years, including events and projects for the American Diabetes Foundation, the Boys and Girls Club of San Diego, Christmas in April, San Diego Hospice, the Brooke Humphries Heart Fund, the Logan Heights Family Health Center, St. Vincent de Paul Village, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Junior Achievement, Leukemia Society of America, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, Sharp Healthcare Foundation, Child Abuse Prevention Foundation/Polinsky Center for Children, United Cerebral Palsy, The Wellness Community San Diego, and Children's Hospital and Health Center.

Among the numerous charities the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation has donated to are the Ronald McDonald House of Charities of San Diego, TERI, Inc., Volunteers of America, Skill Centers of America, March of Dimes, The Pro Kids Golf Academy, American Heart Association, Seau Foundation, San Diego Junior Golf, South Bay YMCA, the San Diego International Sports Foundation, Hall of Champions, Las Patronas and the Burn Institute.

Chargers Challenge

San Diego county youngsters are the benefactors in the annual Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation's "Chargers Challenge." The 8k run, 3.5 mile fun run and walk raise funds for the Pop Warner Associations of San Diego and North County. In 1998, the third annual Chargers Challenge will take runners and walkers through Mission Valley. The race will culminate inside Qualcomm Stadium. In its first two years, the Chargers Challenge has attracted 5,000 participants and raised $20,000 for local youngsters.

Junior's Achievements Never End

Sometimes a football team gets fortunate to have one player who truly exemplifies the spirit of community and charity. In 1992, Junior and Gina Seau created the Junior Seau Foundation. Their hope for the Foundation is to help kids face their life challenges with hope and dignity.

Tim Mantoani

The Foundation is dedicated to educating and empowering young people through the support of child abuse prevention efforts, drug and alcohol awareness and anti-juvenile delinquency programs.

Each fall, the Seau Foundation sponsors the "Sacks for San Diego" program where individuals and businesses pledge $1 to $100 for each sack by the Chargers' defense. The money supports a variety of anti-drug, anti-violence and anti-gang efforts, and supports a team in San Diego's midnight basketball league.

For the past six years, Junior has hosted a celebrity golf classic which has raised more than $700,000 for children in our community.

Players Give Time and Talent for Second Chance

When kicker John Carney isn't on the field splitting the uprights, he usually can be found extending his care to children in need of support.

Through his program, KickStart for Kids, John has raised more than $741,000 for Fresh Start Surgical Gifts of San Diego. Each year John sponsors the Kicks on the Green golf tournament to raise money for Fresh Start, which provides, facilitates and supports reconstructive surgery for children who suffer from physical deformities.

His one-day event generates more than $50,000 annually for Fresh Start Surgical Gifts.

KickStart For Kids

Chargers' kicker John Carney (on knee, right) has helped raise more than $741,000 for Frest Start Surgical Gifts of San Diego through his KickStart for Kids program.

NFL 101 for Women

Football is more than a man's game, with a record number of women both watching and playing America's favorite sport today. San Diego is no exception. Here, more than 1,500 women have turned out for three NFL 101 for Women classes, hosted by the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation and the San Diego Chargers.

The "training camp" for women—full of first downs, flea flickers and fashion—is an informative class about football for women.

The program is taught by Chargers' players and coaches, as well as an official NFL referee. Proceeds from NFL 101 for Women benefit local charities. Since 1996, more than $35,000 has been raised to benefit the community of San Diego.

Chargers Ambassadors and Alumni

After a successful run in the National Football League, many San Diego Chargers alumni find it hard to say goodbye to America's Finest City and choose San Diego for their permanent home. Every year the San Diego Chargers honor these former players at Alumni Day in the stadium.

Two former players—Hank Bauer (1977-82) and Jim Laslavic (1978-81)—turned their success in the community into careers in television.

The Chargers' annual Alumni Day is a good example of just how the team is intertwined in the community. More than 75 former athletes currently living in the San Diego area come out as the team honors its great players of the past.

However, a handful of alumni are already so involved in the community that in 1997 they became charter members of the San Diego Chargers Ambassadors. They are Rolf Benirschke, Gill Byrd, Willie Buchanon and Don Macek. These goodwill ambassadors are available for community appearances and speaking engagements providing a positive outreach for the Chargers. The Ambassadors help provide a link to our past while forging a path to our future.

Christmas In April Comes to San Diego in January

Sometimes community work by the San Diego Chargers comes in the form of hard labor, like in the Christmas in April program. The program, sponsored jointly by team owner Alex Spanos and the National Football League, selects San Diego families to receive the gift of a refurbished dwelling.

This year's effort came in January during the Super Bowl festivities when the Chargers and local volunteers teamed up to renovate two homes in the Logan Heights area of San Diego.

On January 23, 1998, Christmas arrived for two families as part of Christmas In April San Diego, a nonprofit organization that enlists volunteers to repair and rehabilitate the houses of low income, elderly and disabled homeowners.

Sam Stone

Sam Stone

Kicker John Carney, defensive end William Fuller and defensive tackle Reuben Davis all teamed up to renovate two homes in Logan Heights as part of Christmas in April.

More than 20 Chargers' players and staff members donated their time and labor, including defensive tackle and honorary chairman of the program, Reuben Davis. Among those joining Davis in the refurbishment effort were John Carney, Craig Whelihan, David Binn, William Fuller and Dwayne Harper. Also taking part in the days activities were NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue and his wife, Chan, as well as former Republican presidential nominee Jack Kemp.

Spanos, captivated by the determination and hard work of both his players and the volunteers, capped off a terrific day by pledging $100,000 to ensure that Christmas In April continues.

Chargers Help Carry the Torch of Life

The Chargers and Children's Hospital join hands each year in the "Celebration of Champions" torch relay. The Celebration of Champions is an effort to raise money and awareness for the Cancer Care Center at Children's Hospital.

This year at the third annual event, Chargers players Raylee Johnson, Toran James, Dorian Brew and Gerome Williams, and members of the Charger Girls joined select cancer patients and their families to carry the "torch of life" along a one-eighth mile course at Embarcadero Park. More than 100 children participated in the torch relay and over 1,500 family members and friends cheered them on. The exciting day concluded with a barbecue lunch and festive afternoon at the Embarcadero. The Celebration of Champions gives the Chargers a unique opportunity to interact with real heroes—young children fighting life threatening illnesses.

Chargers Players Community Resource Center

In addition to being an emotional leader on the field, Chargers' defensive tackle Reuben Davis has established himself as one of the team's most caring people off the field.

Davis helped establish the "San Diego Chargers' Players Community Resource Center" in Spring Valley in February of 1997. The mission of the resource center is to provide area youth with the educational and recreational opportunities needed to overcome potential community, economic and social disadvantages.

Since then, Davis, who along with teammate John Carney was the Chargers' NFL Co-Man of the Year in 1998, has donated his time at several community events designed to benefit the resource center.

Chargers' defensive tackle Reuben Davis has established himself as one of the team's most caring people off the field.

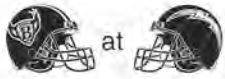
GAME 5
San Diego 21, Baltimore 17 (Sunday, Sept. 28)



The Chargers got their first home win of the 1997 season with a 21-17 victory over the visiting Baltimore Ravens. The Chargers' offense exploded for 440 yards, its highest total since Sept. 11, 1994, when the Bolts put up 465 yards versus the Cincinnati Bengals, a span of 50 regular-season games. Wide receiver Tony Martin led the charge with three touchdown catches and 155 yards on four receptions. Stan Humphries passed for a career-high 358 yards while completing 17 of just 26 attempts. Each team punted on its first possession before San Diego converted a fourth and two from the Ravens' 36-yard line into a touchdown. Humphries hit Martin on a crossing pattern underneath Baltimore's secondary and outran three defenders on his way to the Chargers' first score. Matt Stover kicked a 47-yard field goal to make the score 7-3 and the end of the first period. Humphries and Martin struck again in the second quarter, this time on a 72-yard bomb, the longest play for both since their 99-yard touchdown hook-up at Seattle on Sept. 18, 1994. Once again Stover tightened the score with field goals from 35 yards in the second quarter and 28 yards in the third quarter to make the score, 14-9, Baltimore then took the lead in the third quarter when quarterback Vinny Testaverde connected with Jermaine Lewis on a 37-yard touchdown strike. A successful two-point conversion gave the Ravens a 17-14 lead. Martin and Humphries put San Diego up for good, 21-17, with their third touchdown of the day, a 38 yarder with three seconds left in the third quarter. Two late Baltimore scoring attempts were thwarted deep in San Diego territory on interceptions by free safety Michael Dumas and cornerback Dwayne Harper. In addition to the interceptions, Harper led the Chargers with four passes defensed, while Dumas added five tackles, two passes defensed and a forced fumble. Rodney Harrison finished with a team-high 12 tackles and two passes defensed.

The Raiders entered the game with the NFL's top-ranked offense, but San Diego outgained Oakland in total yards, 398 to 241, and in rushing yards, 180 to 13. Oakland's 13 yards rushing was the second lowest total allowed by San Diego's defense in team history since the Chargers held the Raiders to two rushing yards on Oct. 22, 1961. San Diego's 180 yards rushing was the most since Sept. 1, 1996, versus Seattle when the team had 186. The Chargers opened the scoring with a 30-yard field goal by Greg Davis after the Raiders turned the ball over deep in their own territory on a fumbled punt snap. Davis connected on two more field goals and the Raiders hit one to give San Diego a 9-3 lead going into halftime. Davis added another field goal in the third quarter before Raiders' running back Napoleon Kaufman turned a short Jeff George pass into a dazzling 70-yard touchdown to tighten the score to 12-10. San Diego's offense came storming back on its very next possession, driving 80 yards on nine plays with running back Gary Brown punching it in from one yard out to make San Diego's lead, 19-10. San Diego's defense dominated the fourth quarter while holding Oakland's offense scoreless, and the Chargers' offense added two impressive drives for field goals to make the final, 25-10. San Diego's offense controled the ball for 38:57 to Oakland's 21:03. The Chargers' defense recorded a season-high six sacks while holding Oakland's rushing attack to just one yard per carry. Linebacker Junior Seau had nine tackles, one sack and one forced fumble, while Raylee Johnson led the defense with two sacks. Marco Coleman, William Fuller and John Parrella each added sacks.

After his score, the Colts took their ensuing possession and marched 73 yards in four plays, culminated by a 36-yard touchdown pass. GAME 9

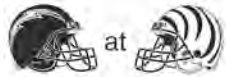
Cincinnati 38, San Diego 31 (Sunday, Nov. 2)



The Chargers dropped to 4-5 with a 38-31 loss at Cincinnati. Three turnovers which led to 21 Bengals' points late in the second quarter and the loss of quarterback Stan Humphries with a concussion proved to be too much for the Bolts to overcome. The Chargers led 14-10 near the end of the first half on the strength of a one-yard run by Gary Brown in the first period and a 85-yard punt return for a score by Eric Metcalf in the second quarter. But with just a little more than two minutes remaining in the half, disaster struck. First, Bengals' cornerback Corey Sawyer intercepted a Humphries' pass on the 39-yard line and returned it to the Chargers' two. A two-yard touchdown run put the Bengals up, 17-14. San Diego got the ball back but fumbled on its own 33-yard line and Cincinnati defensive lineman John Copeland recovered and took the ball in for another Bengals' touchdown to put San Diego down, 24-14. San Diego tightened the score to, 24-17, just before the break with a 45-yard field goal by Greg Davis. The third quarter was even more costly for the Bolts as Humphries was knocked from the game with his second concussion in three games on the Chargers' third offensive possession. The only third-quarter score came when Bengals' rookie running back Corey Dillon raced 71 yards for a touchdown to make the score, 31-17. Metcalf once again kept the Chargers alive in the fourth quarter, this time with a 67-yard punt return for a TD to make the tally, 31-24. Bengals' quarterback Jeff Blake scrambled 13 yards for a TD to give his team a, 38-24, lead with 7:02 to play. Yet San Diego refused to die and came right back when Craig Whelihan connected with Charlie Jones on a 44-yard touchdown strike. San Diego got the ball back two more times but failed to score. Metcalf set an NFL record for combined kick returns for scores (10).

Moon opened the second-half scoring by orchestrating a 13-play, 61-yard drive which was culminated by a one-yard Chris Warren touchdown plunge. Seattle took a 24-17 lead when defensive end Michael Sinclair fell on a Whelihan fumble in the endzone. Rookie cornerback Paul Bradford kept the Chargers alive when he intercepted a Moon pass and raced 56 yards for his first career touchdown to knot the score, 24-24. Whelihan and Martin electrified the San Diego crowd, this time on a 61-yard scoring bomb to give San Diego a 31-24 lead in the fourth quarter. San Diego suffered its sixth loss in a row with a 14-3 defeat to the Atlanta Falcons. The game was a defensive struggle, with the Falcons getting the only score of the first half on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Chris Chandler to Terrance Mathis. The teams combined for seven punts, three interceptions, 13 penalties and just 217 yards of total offense in the half. Atlanta increased its lead to 14-0 with a 99-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by rookie Byron Hanspard on the opening play of the second half. It was his second kickoff return for a score in as many weeks. San Diego took the ensuing possession and drove all the way down to the Falcons' four-yard line, but a sack and two missed pass attempts made the Chargers settle for a 37-yard Greg Davis field goal to make the score 14-3. The Chargers drove down to the three-yard line on their next possession but came up short when the Falcons intercepted a Craig Whelihan pass in the endzone. The Chargers had one more possession in the fourth quarter but a 42-yard field goal attempt by Davis was blocked. The Chargers' defense held the Falcons to just 204 total yards, the lowest total given up by San Diego since it yielded 178 yards to Seattle, Sept. 18, 1994. Strong safety Rodney Harrison continued his solid play for the Chargers, finishing the game with six tackles, one interception, one sack and one pass defense. Eric Metcalf was the Chargers' bright spot on offense, catching eight passes for 109 yards.

CHARGERS SPANISH RADIO BROADCASTERS

All San Diego Chargers games can be heard in Spanish on KURS 1040 AM "La Super K." KURS is the first American (K-designated) radio station to broadcast in Spanish in the San Diego area and covers all of San Diego County and northern Baja California.

JORGE VILLANUEVA

Jorge returns for fifth season as the Spanish voice of the Chargers. He has handled play-by-play since the Chargers went to their first Super Bowl following 1994 season. He also also hosts the sports segment on the daily newscast on KBNT 19 Univision, the Hispanic speaking TV station based in San Diego. Villanueva has 15 years of experience in sports journalism. In addition to football, his play-by-play experience includes soccer, baseball and boxing. He also handled play-by-play duties in Spanish for San Diego State Aztecs football team in 1995.

EFREN DOMINGUEZ

Dominguez returns for his seventh season as color analyst for the Spanish broadcasts of Chargers games. Since 1994, Dominguez has worked with Villanueva on the Chargers Spanish radio team. Dominguez also anchors the Halftime and Postgame Shows, with live interviews with players and coaches. CHARGERS ON KFMB

This past offseason, the San Diego Chargers and KFMB formed a new community partnership through 1999. Starting in 1998, all of the Chargers' preseason, regular season and postseason games will be broadcast on Star 100.7 FM, with 760 KFMB AM simulcasting most games as well, while all of the team's preseason games will be televised by KFMB-TV, Channel 8. KFMB-TV also is the home of the Chargers' regular-season games because CBS Sports purchased the rights to televise the NFL's American Football Conference games beginning in 1998 and extending through 2005.

KFMB-TV Sports Director Ted Leitner will handle the play-by-play on the Chargers' radio broadcasts. Former Chargers' player and coach and current Channel 8 sportscaster Hank Bauer will handle color commentary. Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts, the leading passer in team history, and Stan Humphries, the only quarterback to lead the Chargers to an AFC Championship, will team up on the team's four preseason television broadcasts, with Fouts handling play-by-play and Humphries providing analysis. In addition to the preseason telecasts, KFMB-TV will produce offseason programming to promote the Chargers, the players and the team's extensive community activities.

TED LEITNER

Outspoken, outrageous, always willing to go out on a limb, Ted Letiner's reports on KFMB-TV News 8 at 5 pm and 6:30 pm are must see TV for San Diego sports fans. After 20 years, he is still shaking up San Diego with his unique brand of sports reporting and unabashed opinion. He also sends shockwaves through the airwaves as a talk show host on KFMB-AM on weekdays from noon to 4 pm, as play-by-play announcer for the Padres, and now, as play-by-play announcer for the Chargers on Star 100.7 FM and 760 KFMB-AM. This is his second stint as play-by-play announcer for the Chargers, having handled the duties previously from 1985-86. He has served as News 8's Sports Director since 1978 and was recognized as the nation's "most popular sportscaster" in the top 50 markets in a national survey.

HANK BAUER

Hank Bauer, a former running back, special teams captain and coach for the Chargers, will handle the color commentary on the team's radio broadcasts. These days, Hank is tackling sports on News 8 weeknights at 11. For 11 years, he was a running back for the Chargers as well as one of the team's all-time top performers on special teams. He set a single-season record with 52 tackles in 1982, the year he was named Team Captain. He also scored 21 touchdowns in his career. In 1983, a broken neck forced Hank off the field. After coaching for the Chargers for four years, he made his move to broadcasting and eventually became a sports reporter at News 8 in 1987. In addition to his TV sportscasts, Bauer hosts a top rated "Sports Talk" show on 760 KFMB-AM weeknights from 4 to 7 pm.
